

Mountain flight in Nepal

<https://www.nectravels.com/package/mountain-flight-in-nepal/>

Mountain flight is the imagination and dream of people to see the amazing mountain range from your close eyes in an hour flight. Only a bird gets to see this glorious view and you're up close within minutes of being airborne. Enjoy a close look at some of the world's highest peaks including Mount Everest and go home with incredible pictures because everyone gets a window seat.

Taking a mountain flight is the easiest thing to do. Just buy a ticket with us and you're taken on an hour long flight that flies higher than some of the Himalayan peaks, looking down on glaciers and high altitude lakes. Nepal has eight of the highest mountains in the world and the only way to see them all is by mountain flight. Even mountaineers don't get to see them up close all in a day. The hostess identifies the individual peaks and the pilot invites each passenger to the cockpit to take pictures of Everest from their large windscreen.

In the west is seen the mighty peaks of the Dhaulagiri massif and the Annapurna range while far in the east lies Everest, Makalu and Kanchenjunga. The horizon seems like an endless jagged row of high snowy peaks stretching far into the distance. The rows and rows of mountain peaks are beyond one's imagination and simply unbelievable.

Leaving Kathmandu domestic airport early in the morning before the clouds form, passengers take an hour's flight around the Everest region with stunning views of all the major peaks. Maps are available of the mountain ranges so one can identify the various important peaks. The hostesses are there if you have questions. Should the weather not be suitable you will be either offered a refund or the option to fly again the next day.

The cost of Mountain Flight is USD 230 per person.

Itinerary